I don't remember if Facebook use the entire jid as username. Can you try again using the 'use the entire jid' option in the advanced settings ? If it doesn't work activate the smack debugger and send us the log.

I have tried to enable the JID from settings but the exception remains. I have enabled the XMPP Debug to YES, but cannot find where the log file is generated. I am running BEEM Project in Android emulator. Can you guide me where I can find the log file when in emulator.

Naveed

The log is available under logcat. The tag SMACK is used and show every xmpp packet sent and received.

- File beep.log added

I have activated the Smack debugger option and filtered the log of emulator by word SMACK. The log is attached.

I just completed the FAQ page to add informations on how to login with your facebook account. Can you please give it a try and if it doesn't work send the SMACK log again ?

In the beep.log file, I can see that you use the full JID to authenticate which is bad for facebook.
Note that you must have a facebook username to login with Beem

I have used Facebook username to login with Beem and it now Login successfully.

Thank you for helping me out in this problem.

Naveed
